COCKTAILS - THE ORIGINS

martinez

65 AED

preceeding the martini, first appeared in print in 1887 by professor jerry thomas in bon vivant's companion... a voluptuous mix of antica formula, bombay sapphire gin, a touch of maraschino and angostura bitters... a homage to the sweet martini and vermouth!

blood & sand

65 AED

a 1920's classic originating from the namesake movie starring rudolf valentino - johnnie walker black label, shaken with antica formula, cherry marnier and orange juice

ramos gin fizz

70 AED

a remarkable classic originating from new orleans, courtesy of henry c. ramos back in 1888... tanqueray gin, egg white, cream, fresh lime and lemon juices, vanilla, the indispensable orange flower water and a dash of soda, shaken vigorously for over 1 minute, served tall... immortality in a cocktail!

el presidente

65 AED

el presidente gained prominence among prohibition-era travellers to cuba, notably at havana's la floridita bar in the 1930's, consisting of white rum, noilly prat, clement creole shrub and a dash of grenadine

old fashioned deluxe

75 AED

woodford reserve bourbon slowly stirred with cubed ice, a bitters-soaked sugar cube and with added hints of orange. circa 1800, the cocktail was a "hair of the dog" morning drink that tamed spirits with water, sugar and bitters (patent medicine). the late 19th century expanded the use of the word "cocktail" to encompass just about any mixed drink. since then, the old fashioned—literally, the old-fashioned way of making a cocktail—has been our contemporary expression of the original drink.

mojito deluxe

70 AED

matusalem reserva rum stirred with muddled mint, limes, demerara sugar and shaved ice with a splash of soda, topped with a crown of captain morgan's dark rum. the mojito was born on the island of cuba and is one of the nation's oldest cocktails.
